DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 6, 8, 13 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Patent Number 5,064,404 by Champion. The coin discharge apparatus disclosed by said '404 patent incorporates coin bowl 26, selector disc 34 and baffle 30 that read on the Applicant's bowl, selection disc and moving wall section, respectively.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3653

Claims 4, 5, 7, 9-12, 14 and 16-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over said above-mentioned '404 patent in view of Patent Number 5,423,455 by Ricciardi et al. The coin discharge apparatus disclosed by said '404 patent incorporates coin bowl 26, selector disc 34 and baffle 30 that read on the Applicant's bowl, selection disc and moving wall section, respectively.

Although the coin discharge apparatus if said '404 patent fails to disclose an automated means of maintaining a certain level of bulk product within the hopper, the use of such configurations is well known in the art. The '455 patent teaches a supply vessel 2 that receives bulk material from an overhead location and subsequently discharges said bulk material from the lower portion of said vessel. Furthermore, the level of bulk material is detected by level probe 30 which sends an actuating signal to controller 12 which sends a signal to feed valve 21 to regulate the level of bulk material within vessel 2. Said probe 30 and valve 21 of said '404 patent read on the Applicant's detecting unit and actuating unit, respectively. The screw jack of claims 9 and 16, and the spring of claims 10 and 17 are obvious variations of the actuating means of said '455 patent.

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the bulk material level regulating configuration of said '404 patent into the coin discharge apparatus of said '455 patent to provide and effective means of regulating the amount of stored coins transferred from the coin bowl to the coin dispensing means.

Conclusion

The following prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Patent Number 5,462,010 by Takano et al because of its supply controller 10,

Patent Number 5,326,312 by Patroni because of its reservoir 67,

Patent Number 5,017,176 by Swierzek because of its payout plate 22,

Patent Number 4,469,709 by Schrauf because of its feeder part 14, and Patent Number 1,962,018 by Kenkel because of its swinging abutment 5.
